

For immediate release. Kill date: July 25, 2022

TJ Dawe
and
The Winnipeg
Fringe Festival
present
Blueberries Are Assholes

Fringe god TJ Dawe takes a new turn with his newest monologue, eschewing storytelling in favor of riffing on the absurdities woven into everyday life, specifically in the realms of food, the English language and the human body.

“This guy’s headed for the stand-up hall of fame” - the Georgia Straight.

This is TJ’s 17th Winnipeg Fringe, and his 120th Fringe overall.

His venue is the Tom Hendry Warehouse.

He’s involved in another show at this festival: directed and dramaturged Adam Bailey’s monologue The Truth™: Explorations in the Life of a Know-it-All

High DPI photos by Christache Ross available for download

Contact info: tjdawe22@gmail.com (604) 880 5736 @TJ_Dawe www.tjdawe.ca

Other TJ News:

- he moved to LA for a job, which the pandemic killed like a train pancaking a coyote
- he kept afloat during the pandemic creating and directing immersive shows
- he’s been writing for McSweeney’s, The Beaverton, Points in Case and other comedy websites
- he teaches solo show creation online, which is where this show came from
- he’s a contributing writer for Scott Dikkers, founding editor of The Onion, for his web series Scott Dikkers Around